PROFILE

I am a motivated and adaptable aspiring software developer with a diverse background as a fitness trainer, firefighter, and in a variety of everyday roles. My broad work experience has strengthened my communication, discipline, and teamwork skills, which I now aim to bring into the tech industry. Driven by a passion for technology, video games, and problem-solving, I pursued a degree in Software Development, gaining practical experience with relevant tools. I'm eager to continue developing my skills and contribute to creating engaging, high-quality software and games.
